Pope Stresses Peace Message

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul came home today from the papacy's first transatlantic pilgrimage, a day-long quest for world brotherhood, and vowed he would "continue to work as much as possible" for peace.

He returned to a red carpet welcome in his See of Rome and said that his striving for world peace was "a fundamental point of our program—that is, of our ministry."

"We bless all we meet on this difficult but luminous way."

The mission that cast the papacy in a new international role seemed to have refreshed the Pope. He did not show fatigue after the 36-hour journey and instead he had the appearance of being satisfied with a mission accomplished.

Forty-five minutes after his American jet airplane landed at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci airport, he was back in the Vatican. His limousine drove through St. Peter's Square where several thousand persons lined the route and cheered.

As he entered the basilica, a choir sang a hymn of thanksgiving. The 2,300 assembled cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops, and bishops joined in the hymn as the pontiff, 88, walked down the aisle to the central presidency table.

Speaking in Latin, the pontiff said: "Now more than ever before, we must be workers for peace. The Catholic Church has put upon itself a greater obligation to serve the cause of peace, owing to the fact that, through our voyage, it has solemnly defended this cause."

He said it is the duty of the church to help build civil peace by constantly supporting it both morally and on certain occasions materially.

Unmanned Soviet Satellite Aims For Soft Moon Landing

MOSCOW (CP) — An unmanned Soviet satellite headed today for the moon and possibly history's first soft lunar landing Thursday night.

Luna 7 was launched Monday from a multi-stage rocket. Tass news agency said Luna's course was "close to the prescribed one" and that all systems aboard the spacecraft were functioning normally.

The Russians made no announcement on the specific purpose of the flight, their third moon shot this year. But it was believed to be another attempt to make a soft landing on the moon, to photograph its surface from close up, and to act as a dry run for a manned lunar landing.

Luna 6 crashed into the moon. Luna 5 missed the moon June 11.

Tass said Luna 7 weighed 14 tons. It was first lifted into a "parking" orbit by an even bigger rocket, then sent on its way toward the moon.

It was crammed with scientific instruments which were being turned on en route—both automatically and by radio commands from earth.

Tools to sample the moon's surface, examine it and tell Moscow what it's like also were presumed to be part of Luna 7's payload.

Speculation about the lunar surface ranges from the belief that it is made up of jagged, barren rocks, to one that it is covered with powdery dust many yards deep.

When Luna 3 hit the moon in May, an official Russian announcement said the probe produced information "necessary for the further elaboration of a system for soft landing."

The U.S. did not manage to make even a "hard" moon shot until Ranger 7 struck the moon in March. Russia's first hit was with Luna 2 in 1959.

Mr. Pearson said the proposed program will be more flexible than the long-standing promise of his government for a system of university scholarships and bursaries.

"The intention was to provide scholarships of a uniform value of $1,000 a year to 10,000 students each year."

"With the rapid increase in university enrolment which has been taking place, this plan would create too sharp a distinction between the students who won these large scholarships and those who are dependent on existing scholarships and bursaries, which are generally much smaller."

"The government's program will, therefore, be to establish a sum of money available for scholarships to each year's entrance to university but to leave the details of how it is to be worked out with the provinces and universities."

"The scholarships will have a maximum value of $1,000 a year for each of four years of study. While the scholars will be chosen on merit, the value of the scholarship will be reduced for those whose parents can afford to pay part of the cost of their education or who have other resources."

CITY SPURS COMMUNITY CHEST TO $1,000 MARK

Monday night Mayor R. F. Parkinson presented a $900 cheque from the city to Hon. Wilkinson, campaign chairman of the 1965 Kelowna community chest. The chest, with an objective of $36,000 is now well into the business and special names canvass, with the house to house portion stated for mid month. In thanking the city, Mr. Wilkinson said there had been some difficulty in locating canvassers and many former canvassers said they were too busy. "However," he said, "members of council are known to be busy people, and yet I can see eight canvassers here in this council chamber." Today Mayor Parkinson (left) and Mr. Wilkinson went down to the chest thermometer at the corner of Bernard Ave. and Ellis St. and moved the pointer to just over the $1,000 mark collected so far. (Courier photo)

Rebel Strength In Java Said To Be Punctured

SINGAPORE (AP) — Reports from Jakarta today said organized rebel resistance in Central Java appears to have collapsed. The reports, sent through diplomatic channels, said small pockets of rebel forces were still scattered throughout the central part of Indonesia's main island but these were believed to be ill armed and poorly led.

The diplomatic reports said an American businessman, who was not identified, drove the length of Java in the last two days and found little fighting. The American encountered rebel forces but found them friendly. He reported that many people he had spoken to in Central Java were supporters of Lt. Col. Untung, the leader of the attempt last week to overthrow President Sukarno.

Radio Malaysia reported today the army forces in control of Jakarta had begun a crack-down on Communists in the capital, arresting 200 persons. Without giving the source of its report, it added that 5,000 people at a rally in Jakarta had demanded that the Indonesian Communist Party be banned.

Powerful U.S. Interests "After B.C. Water, Power"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bill Deverell, New Democratic Party candidate in the Nov. 8 federal election, said Monday night that rich and powerful interests in the U.S. are threatening to "swindle" Canada out of her water and power resources. Deverell, seeking election in Coast - Capilano constituency, told a political rally that a lobby backed by big money is urging U.S. Congress to organize a North American hydro cartel.

The aim, he said, was to use Canada as a reservoir for ambitious irrigation and power projects in the U.S., adding: "Only the Americans can benefit from this type of big steal. Canadians must stand guard against a sellout of this country's greatest single resource." Grace MacInnis, another NDP candidate seeking election in Vancouver - Kingsway, told another rally that Canada must live its own life instead of tamely taking orders from Washington. She said the NDP party is not anti-American, but rather pro-Canadian. This did not mean "hostility to the U.S. or any other country."

"But it does mean a government determined to give Canada a life of its own instead of tamely taking orders from Washington or anywhere else."

MERCHANTS TOLD CLEAN IT UP!

Mayor R. F. Parkinson Monday night took a verbal swipe at downtown merchants who fail to do their part in keeping Bernard Ave. spot and squeak.

"During the night our street sweeper does a fine job," he said, "then early in the morning we have a mess go around with a broom to pick up the material in the gutters."

Then before the shops are open many merchants sweep the sidewalks and we are most pleased to see that. But they sweep large pieces of paper into the gutter, too, and undo all the good our city crews did overnight.

"The merchants could easily pick up those pieces of paper rather than have them blow all over the city."

"There is still too much material being thrown from cars and we must educate the provisions of the Motor Vehicle Act that cover that offence," he said.

NATO Urged "Help U.S."

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the NATO allies today they should help the United States find ways to fulfill President Johnson's promise to protect non-nuclear countries in Asia against the threat of nuclear blackmail by China.

Humphrey did not say how the other allies could contribute to a solution of this problem, which the U.S. and Britain have discussed for a year.

India would like to see a solution based on guarantees supplied jointly by the U.S., Britain and Russia.

Humphrey said joint NATO action is needed to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to countries which do not now have them.

He appealed for agreement on some arrangement to "offer our European partners an effective alternative to national systems of deterrents."

But he did not specifically ask support for the U.S. proposal for a multilateral nuclear fleet, a project designed primarily to give West Germany a voice in nuclear strategy and in decisions on the issues of nuclear warfare.

Cabinet Change Seen In U.K.

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Wilson is expected to make his first cabinet changes soon, and reports circulating here today.

The main purpose of the reshuffle, a minor one, is to give extensive new powers to Frank Cousins, minister of technology, the reports said. The new powers are to make him virtually minister of industry and production, although his title will probably remain unchanged.

Migrant Faces Murder Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Helmut Richter, 34, a Polish immigrant, was charged with capital murder Monday after his wife, son and daughter were found fatally injured in their blood-plattered east-end home.

His wife, Hilda, 33, died two hours after being admitted to East General Hospital. Their five-year-old daughter, Heidi, was dead on arrival.

Their son, Robert, 8, underwent surgery for head injuries at Sick Children's Hospital but died early today.

Inspector William McNeely of the Metropolitan Toronto police said the woman was attacked with a cement chisel. The children's wounds were caused by a six-inch paring-knife.

Peking Radio Sees Intrusion As "Military Provocation"

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese planes shot down a U.S. fighter plane over the China mainland today, Peking radio claimed.

The Chinese language broadcast said the plane was one of four American aircraft that intruded over the mainland. It said the intrusion was into Kwangsi province in southeast China at 12:30 p.m.

Chinese planes intercepted the aircraft and downed one. The broadcast made no mention of the pilot of the downed plane.

It added the three other planes fled.

Peking charged the four planes flew over the mainland on a mission of "military provocation."

Peking claimed Sept. 23 that a U.S. Air Force F-106 jet flew over China's Hainan island in the Gulf of Tonkin and was shot down and its pilot captured.

The United States said that plane had developed mechanical difficulties and went down in the Gulf of Tonkin.

In Washington the Pentagon said it had no information on any such incident, but was looking into the report.

Meanwhile in New Delhi, India charged Pakistani troops had crossed the frontier and penetrated 100 yards into Indian territory in southwest Kashmir.

The intrusion took place in the Nawasahar region north of Srinagar, the defence ministry communiqué said. It added: "In the Akhaur sector, Pakistani troops attempted to encroach on territory under our control but their attempt was foiled."

Indian-Pakistani skirmishing in this area in August resulted in open conflict between the two nations that lasted 22 days.

Pakistan charged Monday India ignored a ceasefire declared under United Nations auspices Sept. 23 and was attacking in the Chamb sector, which is in the same general area of Kashmir.

Total Of 100 May Be Dead In South Africa Train Crash

DURBAN (Reuters) — Rescue workers digging in the grim wreckage of South Africa's worst train crash found the bodies of 84 dead and more than 100 injured—all Negroes—by dawn today, and expected the final death toll to be more than 100.

The train disaster, swiftly followed by the knife-and-club murder of a white railway signalmen, occurred when the last three cars of a train jammed with more than 1,500 Negroes were derailed 10 miles northwest of here Monday night and only two miles from its destination at the native township of Kwa Mashu.

Gangland Slaughter Of Five Alleged By Quebec Minister

QUEBEC (CP) — Oliva Boulet, St. Justified in court today he saw a man shot "at point-blank range" in a wooded area near St. Gilles, Que.

He identified the victim as Redempteur Faucher of Quebec City.

Justice Minister Claude Wagner announced Monday five men have been killed in an underworld attempt to block crime investigation. He said three of the bodies were found, covered with chaotic time, in wooded swampland near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of here.

Boulet was testifying at the preliminary hearing of M. Darabauer, 43, a Quebec businessman charged with arson and conspiracy to commit arson in connection with the destruction by fire of a house in nearby St. Lambert in September, 1961.

The minister, who has pushed investigations of fraudulent bankruptcies and related arson cases, said:

"It is very possible that we shall find six or seven other bodies in the Montreal or Quebec City regions."

He added:

"The purpose of these murders is to suppress proof or to ensure silence."

TWO MORE FOUND

He told a specially-summoned press conference in his Montreal office that two other bodies now are being unearthed in the same general vicinity as that in which the first three were found—the region south of Quebec City.

The three bodies already unearthed were found, covered with chaotic time, in wooded swampland near St. Gilles, 30 miles south of the provincial capital. They were discovered Sept. 24, 26 and Oct. 2.

Mr. Wagner said the fourth and fifth bodies are near St. Nicholas, 20 miles from the capital, and near Thetford Mines, 50 miles out.

Laing Not Planning Apology For Flurry In Oil Stocks

Resources Minister Laing said today in Ottawa he plans no formal apology to the stock market over remarks he made last week concerning the potential of a northern Alberta oil field. His remarks over the weekend, which caused a flurry of trading in Banff Oil Co. stocks, were contained in interviews he gave to reporters during a cabinet meeting. "I thought out reporters then to make my position clear," he repeated he had been referring to an area and not to any particular firm's holdings.

Pioneer Families United By Marriage At Winfield

WINFIELD — White tape graced the altar and roses of chrysanthemums decorated the church to make a beautiful setting for the ceremony which united in marriage Carole-Anne Candice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Pollard and Franklin Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Arnold.

This marriage united two Okanagan Valley pioneer families, the bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. "Tina" Pollard who came to the Coldestream Ranch outside Vernon in 1911 and to Winfield in 1932. The groom is the grandson of Jack Arnold who came to Glenora in 1911 and to Winfield in 1932, and is now aged 34.

DOUBLE RING
Rev. W. Edgerton officiated at the double ring ceremony and the solemnist was Mrs. Lawrence Stowe of Winfield. She sang "O Perfect Love" and "A Wedding Prayer" accompanied by Miss Beverly Robb of Calgary at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride was lovely in a traditional white floor length gown of satin and tulle, the fitted bodice was fashioned with a high round collar and long sleeves. The empire waistline was accented with an inset of Guipure lace and a small bow. The skirt featured a wide band of the same lace and a detachable chapel-length train well gracefully from a bow set at the back waistline.

ILLUSION NET
Her four-tiered shoulder length veil of French illusion net was scalloped at the edges and was held in place by a trio of hand-rolled fine tulle roses and stiffened net leaves. She carried a cascading bouquet of deep red and white stephanotis with white satin ribbons.

For "something old, something borrowed and something blue," the bride had tucked away a brooch she borrowed which belonged to her late maternal grandmother and an antique ruby stick pin which had belonged to the groom's late grandmother and a blue garter.

The bride and groom later presented each other with Eternity rings.

Her bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Penny Pollard of Vancouver and the groom's sister, Miss Laurie Arnold of Vernon and her flower girl was Miss Julie Dapavo of Rutland, the groom's niece.

The bridesmaids wore identical full-length sleeveless gowns of aqua peau de sole with scoop-necklines. Their semi-bell-shaped skirts had straight center panels, back and front and white full length gloves and satin shoes were of matching color. Their headpieces were a fabric flower and net entwine semi-circular bouquets of white carnations partially sprayed aqua and each wore a jeweled pin, a small flower girl also wore a long dress fashioned on the same lines as the bridesmaids with little white gloves and shoes and a fabric flower headpiece to match her gown, she carried a miniature bouquet of aqua sprayed carnations.

The bestman was Ken Clement of Ellison and the ushers were Norman Arnold of Pemberton, B.C., brother of the groom, and Dave Friesen of Kamloops, cousin of the bride. A reception, which the guests attended, followed at the Eldorado Arms Hotel.

MR. AND MRS. F. R. ARNOLD

To receive the guests, the bride's mother chose a sheath dress of beige tulle with a rounded neckline, topped with a pink stole, her hat was of brown tulle flowers and her accessories were brown, a corsage of bronze mums complimented her ensemble.

She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a dark brown silk knit sheath dress with three-quarter length sleeves and an accordion pleated collar which was rounded in the front and dipped to a vee at the back. Her accessories were gold and she wore a corsage of cream carnations tipped with bronze.

Frank Isaac of Vancouver proposed the toast to the bride which was aptly answered by the groom and Ron Friesen proposed the toast to the bridesmaids which was answered by the best man. William D. Ben of Winfield was master of ceremonies and telegrams were read from relatives in Hinton, Hertfordshire and London, England, also from friends in Vancouver.

During the reception Mrs. Lawrence Stowe sang "The Hawaiian Wedding Song" accompanied by Miss Beverly Robb at the piano.

Before leaving on her honeymoon, a motoring trip to Banff, Jasper, Seattle and Spokane, the bride changed into a pale pink fine wool dress, with an empire waistline and a matching jacket with three-quarter length sleeves and a Chelsea collar. Her hat was a small leather pill box with net to match her dress, her shoes and handbag were black patent and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations complemented her ensemble.

BOUQUET CAUGHT
Immediately prior to leaving she threw her bridal bouquet which was caught by one of the bridesmaids, Miss Laurie Arnold.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. R. Friesen, David and Paul of Kamloops, Miss Beverly Robb of Hinton, Alta., Norman Arnold of Pemberton, B.C., Miss Pam Pollard of Kamloops, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pollard and Karen of Lumby, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Isaac and Francis of North Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. John Kitson of West Summerville, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clement of Cranbrook, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Graig of Penikese, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Friesen of Westbank, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Johnson of Penikese and many friends from Vernon, Oryms, Winfield, Ellison, Rutland and Kelowna.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Pollard entertained the out of town guests, family and close friends at their home in Winfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold will reside at The Belvedere, R.R. 1, Winfield.

JAILED TWO YEARS
VANCOUVER (CP) — Stanley McKenzie Dewar, 34, has been sentenced to two concurrent two-year jail terms for two robberies that netted him only $2. Dewar pleaded guilty to robbing a grocery clerk of $2 at Knifpoint. Dewar was captured after attempting to rob another grocer in the same manner.

Rhodesia Crisis Topic In U.K.

LONDON (AP) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith opened crucial talks with British government leaders today on his bid to preserve white rule in the central African colony. Smith and other Rhodesian ministers met with British Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley to begin negotiations that were billed in advance as final and conclusive.

Handing over the conference was Smith's threat to declare independence for Rhodesia unless Prime Minister Wilson's administration guarantees the continuance of white rule there. Wilson has said such unilateral action would amount to an act of rebellion against the British crown.

Some officials said Smith had surprised Bottomley in a preliminary talk Monday by showing apparent readiness to discuss a deal that would avert the need for a unilateral declaration of independence.

But few if any officials expected Smith to compromise on his basic demand that Rhodesia's 220,000 whites retain the reins of power over the colony's 4,000,000 black Africans.

Farmers Talk Of Milk Price

ARMSTRONG — A meeting of Farmers Union of B.C. (Local 202) was held in the municipal hall Wednesday, Sept. 28, with the president, Henry Ludwig, in the chair.

The ever popular "price of milk and quotas" were discussed. Len Bawtree reported on a meeting of the milk committee of the Federation of Agriculture in Vancouver which he had attended, wherein a resolution was passed that the price of milk be raised to the farmer of 35 cents a hundredweight. It is agreed that the directors of the co-operative.

A date was set for a Political Forum where all the candidates for Okanagan-Revelstoke constituency will be present to answer questions and present their party platforms.

This will be at the Legion Hall in Armstrong Oct. 30 at 8 p.m.

SHOW STIFF UPPER LIP

HIGHER BEBINGTON, England (AP) — Andrew Bebbington, aged four weeks, became Britain's youngest dental patient. He was born with two large lower front teeth and because one kept cutting his tongue it was pulled out. "Not a whimper," said his 40-year-old mother, who held him in her arms during the extraction.

Atlantic Flights To Be Cheaper Following Air Lines Agreement

MONTREAL (CP) — A schedule of reduced transatlantic group and excursion air fares has been worked out by 60 member airlines of the International Air Transport Association for planned introduction in April. It was announced Sunday night.

The IATA announcement followed a round of traffic conferences which ended in Bermuda Sunday. IATA said the new fare schedule is subject to the approval of the interested governments and to agreement among airlines on conditions of service, which involve such issues as in-flight entertainment.

The new schedule provides for reductions in almost all transatlantic excursion and group fares for both summer and winter seasons. It covers flights to Europe, Africa and the Middle East. Individual fares would remain at present levels.

Examples of proposed reductions in the 21-day excursion fares to New York-Paris, reduced to $331 from the present summer minimum of $341.80. New York-Munich, reduced to $365 from the present summer minimum of $387.40, and New York-Rome, reduced to $409 from the present minimum of $445.40 summer fare.

Group fares would be reduced by as much as 20 per cent westbound and 12 per cent eastbound.

The New York-London group round trip would cost $275 for travellers starting from London and $300 for those starting in New York, compared with the present $325.

The minimum number of travellers needed to qualify for the group fare would be reduced to 15 for groups starting their journeys in Europe, but would remain at the present minimum of 25 for groups originating in North America.

In Oils, Banff, which gained sharply in the last two sessions, settled into a regular trading pattern, gaining five cents to 8.20. Pacific Petroleum was ahead 1/4 to 11 1/2.

POSITION OF COMMONWEALTH TODAY

Canadian Sees Danger

LONDON (CP) — Arnold Smith, Commonwealth secretary-general, says he is well aware of the dangers that threaten the unity of the "Commonwealth but he believes the situation is far from hopeless."

He was commenting on the question raised by a London newspaper columnist today whether the Canadian-born diplomat has been appointed to his post for the sole purpose of giving the Commonwealth "a decent burial."

The clash between Pakistan and India over Kashmir coupled with the explosive situation in Rhodesia have complicated Smith's task of strengthening cohesiveness within the loosely-knit association of 21 countries.

It is understood Smith has quietly let the British government know he fears the Commonwealth may disintegrate through African upheaval if Rhodesia is given independence under minority rule. It also is understood Smith expects to be given independence quickly or his minority government would seize independence without authority from the Queen.

The British government has stated it will not back independence unless there is assurance that the 4,000,000 native Africans in Rhodesia will resist the pressures of the minority whites.

TALKS OPENED
Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia has opened last-stage bargaining with the British administration, demanding Rhodesia's independence.

KEEP NORWAY TIES
LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — A plaque commemorating the wartime associations of this shipbuilding and fishing port with the Royal Norwegian Navy was dedicated at the annual fisheries exhibition this year. The Norwegian whaling fleet moved here in 1940, after the German conquest, and the port was a regular base for the RNN until 1945.

It happened when a crowd of about 30,000, packed round the stadium where the annual national games are being held, tried to force its way in after the gates were closed. A capacity 25,000 persons were inside the stadium.

The main gate to the stadium collapsed as disappointed fans, waving tickets nervously forward, Police used fire hoses in a bid to drive them back.

In Rhodesia gradually will get full voting rights and parliamentary representation. They now are under total rule by the 220,000 whites.

Tanzania says it will withdraw from the Commonwealth if the minority whites are granted or are allowed to seize independence. Warnings of strong opposition also have come from Nigeria, Kenya and other African countries.

Daily Telegraph columnist Llewellyn Chatter said: "One is led to wonder whether that other Mr. Smith, the Canadian secretary-general, has been appointed to undertake the task that Sir Winston Churchill absolutely refused to countenance, namely to preside over the dissolution of the Commonwealth."

Chatter added that the Toronto-born Smith is facing an uphill task of recruiting staff "on a budget that would frighten a parish council" — slightly more than $150,000 ($450,000) a year. Smith has been seeking approval from the Commonwealth governments to appoint two deputies, one from Asia and one from Africa. It is understood he will issue an announcement on the appointments Friday.

Girls In Blue Start Here

Kelowna will have its girls in blue this week. The Navy League, meeting here Monday night, decided to start a Wrenette Corps for girls, aged 14-18, and the initial meeting will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the armours.

Under the national body of the league, 15 recruits are needed as a minimum in a corps and this number was filled during the weekend.

The first meeting will be held on Monday with girls being fitted in the uniform of the Wrenettes.

F. N. Eric Magee, secretary of the Navy League, said parental pressure influenced the committee to make the step for the corps formation.

GAINING FAVOR

"So many families wanted some healthy recreational outlet for daughters that we recruited the minimum and completed preliminary work for this new organization."

Wrenettes were gaining in popularity across Canada, he added, with corps in Vancouver, Kamloops and a large body in Winnipeg, Man.

"We have our 15 girls," said Mr. Magee, but we would like a much larger representation.

"If any girl between the required ages would like to join the Wrenettes, she should come to the armours Thursday."

Working under the auspices of the Navy League, which receives an annual grant from the Community Chest, the Wrenettes will be guided by Miss Mary Blacket, of 461 Park Ave.

LEARN DRILL

The girls will learn to master first aid procedure, take regular drill, signalling, and physical training.

They will be the female counterpart to the Sea Cadets, who operate on the KSCCC "Green" with a complement of 25 officers and 15 cadets, and three officers and 25 juniors.

All expenses are defrayed in the Wrenettes, with no cost to recruits or parents.

At the inaugural meeting Thursday, Robin Young, head of the Navy League, will preside, along with Roy Greening, commanding officer of the Sea Cadets Corps.

This will be the first time such a group has been formed in Kelowna.

To Pinpoint Tourism Decline With Kelowna Luncheon Talks

Everyone interested in the tourist trade is invited to attend a luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Royal Anne hotel at 12:15 p.m. R. K. (Bob) Gordon, coordinator of the visitor and convention bureau said today.

"The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the past visitor season with its decline in figures and to see where we as individuals and groups may have fallen down," Mr. Gordon said. The luncheon program will also be discussed.

"There will be no speakers. Discussion leaders will invite questions from those attending. Leading the discussion will be representatives from every phase of the visitor industry."

Harry Patrick of Penticton, past president of the Okanagan-Similkameen tourist association will attend. Other discussion leaders are Edward Hayward, accommodation; Peter Rietel, service stations; Mr. Gordon of the visitor and convention bureau of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce, publicity and promotion; George Tilling, restaurants; and Horner Turvey, retailers.

Although the meeting is primarily designed for those who benefit most from the visitor trade, it should be of interest to every businessman and proprietor in the city and district," Mr. Gordon said.

"We must see where we have failed and how we can improve so that we may attract our share of this important industry, which is second only to fruit in the Okanagan Valley."

Home Auxiliary In 20th Year, Duties "Make Life Pleasant"

One of the many agencies receiving financial assistance from the Community Chest is the auxiliary to the David-Lloyd Jones Home.

The auxiliary has been in operation some 20 years, ever since the inception of the home for senior citizens. There are 48 guests in the home, all over 70.

Mrs. T. F. McWilliams was the first president and is acting as president for the current year.

"The auxiliary uses the funds it receives from the Chest for little comforts, to make life more pleasant for the elderly guests," she said. "We want them to know the community is interested in their welfare."

NEEDS REPORTED

"The members of the auxiliary are made up of representatives from city organizations. These include the Ladies of the Royal Purple; the Catholic Women's League from both and Catholic churches; representatives from the United church; the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, and the Rebekah lodge."

"We hold monthly meetings with Mrs. Ann Blasen, superintendent of the home, reporting on the needs of the guests, when required, to church, stores and for pleasure. We remember each guest's birthday and arrange for a card and cake for each one."

"Each year we sponsor a gift to all residents in the home. We provide them with stamps, sewing materials.

"In the past we have bought a sewing machine, an electric kettle and a hair dryer. We have provided tea towels, cups and saucers for special teas and refreshments."

"Each year we sponsor a tea and sale of work done by the handicraft committee in the home. This year the tea will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Catholic church; representatives from the United church; the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, and the Rebekah lodge."

Vocational Courses Pointed Toward Upgrading Journeymen

The B.C. Vocational school in Kelowna has instituted six new courses for their annual night school, to supplement three subjects from last year.

"The purpose of the courses is to upgrade journeymen workers to the point where they will be able to write an examination for their tradesman certificates," said Ron Alexander, vice-principal of the school.

The courses are: 10 weeks; automotive tune-up, operation, and maintenance for 20 weeks; welding, which is taught each Tuesday and Thursday for 10 weeks; business machines, Tuesdays and Thursdays for 10 weeks; heavy duty mechanics, Tuesdays for 24 weeks, and carpentry, each Wednesday for 20 weeks.

Mr. Alexander said the courses will be in addition to industrial payroll and timing, automotive refresher and auto body refinishing courses, which were taught last year.

"We feel that people connected with trades and professions in B.C. should be provided an opportunity to upgrade themselves," he said, "and this is the reason for adding the extra courses."

"We are hoping to have 180 people registered to completely fill the courses, and we desire all registrations to be filed by Thursday night, as they have been open for two weeks."

Anyone wishing to enroll in the courses, which begin at 7 p.m. on the nights mentioned, may do so at the main office of the school.

Budget Meeting To Sum Progress

The Kelowna Kinsmen club will hold a general meeting Thursday at the Capri Motor hotel at 8:30 p.m.

Andrew Spence, president, said this is the annual budget meeting where proposals for 1960 will be discussed.

Also on the agenda is discussion of the Kinsmen convention held here in May.

Kinsmen Sponsor Cossack Singers

The Kelowna Kinsmen club will sponsor a one-night show by the Platoff Don Cossack chorus and dancers in the community theatre, Nov. 2 at 8 p.m.

"This will be their only appearance in the Valley," Ed Krahn, publicity chairman, said.

Their program ranges from religious music to folk songs and Caucasian dances.

Proceeds of the show will be used to further the many projects of the Kinsmen club, particularly the development of the Wardlaw park, now under construction.

In the past the Kinsmen have contributed to the construction of the Rutland health centre, landscaped Sunnyvale school and organized polo drives.

CITY FIREFIGHTERS started their safety week Monday in an effort to make the community fire conscious. The demonstrations through the six days will include drills at the general hospital, various schools, and a processing plant. On Monday the officers and men showed their agility with a thrilling display in front of the fire hall. Part of the demonstration was rescue ladder technique, and the conclusion drawn from this picture illustrates vividly the dangerous job firemen perform trying to protect and save lives. It's a long way down from the top of the aerial ladder and to impress upon the public the exciting duties of firemen, the Courier photographer scurried to the top and shot the scene below. Proof positive comes when the tip of his feet are showing by the ladder. (Courier photo)

Battle Imaginary Fire For Prevention Program

There was a maze of hoses and fire trucks in front of the fire hall on Water street Monday evening, while 40 firemen battled an imaginary blaze, to the delight of 125 spectators.

The demonstration kicked off national fire prevention week, which started Monday, and there were four types of fire-fighting demonstrations.

Jack Roberts, assistant fire chief, said the show consisted of aerial ladders, many types of hose procedures, and all the firemen in Kelowna, dumping a total of 1,000 gallons of water into the street.

"The first demonstration," he said, "was showing the people how we approach a small house fire. Many people think this is a very simple task, but there is much more to it than meets the eye."

"We then faked an aerial ladder rescue from the top of the fire hall, showing the proper procedure used to safely lower a person from a high building to the ground."

"After that," he said, "we gave a demonstration of what is called a 'water tower.' In this, the aerial ladder was raised to a height of 60 feet, and firemen poured hundreds of gallons of water from the top, into the streets."

Mr. Roberts said the final demonstration was the use of heavy water streams, in which the firemen used many different nozzles and pressures, showing how to fight various fires.

"After the display," he said, "the people were invited to come into the fire hall for coffee and cookies, and to inspect the equipment and ask the men questions."

"The demonstrations were a big success, and I think they were greatly enjoyed by all present, although we were disappointed with the turnout of spectators. We were expecting to have approximately 400 people at the demonstrations, but all in all, I would say the night was a big success."

Sunshine Turns Into Rain Spell

It will be sunny today with a few cloudy periods and scattered showers in the late afternoon in the Okanagan, Lillooet, and South Thompson areas.

More cloud tonight and occasional rain Wednesday, turning a trifle cooler.

Driver Remanded In Death Case

Albert Paulsen, Winfield, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court Monday to a charge of driving while his right to obtain a driver's licence was under suspension, and was fined $25 and costs.

On a charge of criminal negligence causing death, he was remanded to Oct. 27 for a preliminary hearing.

EXPERTS TO PROBE FULL CIRCLE

Films Make Art Alive

Panelists have been named for the weekly series of films on art which begin Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Kelowna secondary school, sponsored by the Art Exhibit society.

The films will be provided by the National Film Board and Douglas Elluk, district representative will introduce the series Oct. 14 with Al Jensen, moderator.

After each film a panel discussion will be held with those attending invited to ask questions.

The first film is on the Renaissance and the 20th Century and will show the work of Michelangelo and Paul Gauguin. Mr. Elluk and Mr. Jensen will be the only speakers.

The second film Oct. 21 is on traditional art versus abstract. Panelists will be Mr. Elluk, Peter Loft, Robert Dow Held and Irving Adams. The film will deal with the work of Varley and Karel Appel.

Panelists for the regional art film Oct. 28 are Zoltko Kujundzic, Mr. Elluk and Muriel Dexter. The films will be on the work of Klee Wyck and Hilda Carver.

Evelyn Middleton, Muriel Foulkes, Mr. Kujundzic and Ulfis Aras are the panelists for the film discussion on Nov. 4. Topic is regional art and international art. The work of David Milne and Jackson Pollock will be reviewed.

SEE PISCANO

"Art as History" is the topic for Nov. 10 with panelists, Gwen Lamont, Mr. Elluk, Jack Hamilton and Leroy Jensen. Please will be seen at work in his studio.

The series will conclude with "Film An Art Form" which will include mosaics and the use of vertical and horizontal lines in art. Panelists will be Mr. Elluk and Mr. Loft.

The series is open to the public. The purpose, as outlined by Mr. Elluk, is to explore current trends in art and to follow their relationship with art of the past, through films, panel discussion, and audience participation.

ART OF LIFE

Underlying theme is to clarify cultural pursuits as an integral part of 20th century life to the average layman.

Bringing experts together as panelists will unveil some of the mystery surrounding art, through the films and at the same time give the initiate an insight into the fascinating world of brush and palette.

Although the exploration trail will become historical, with almost every viewpoint aired at the series, Mr. Elluk believes this move to be a focal point for bringing art into the home.

"If a man or woman wants to know about homes, a builder is consulted," he said, "and the same holds true for art."

"These artists and experts have their opinions, but at the same time, they impart some deep learning to the newcomer and, open the doors for true appreciation of art."

"Because a man does not paint cannot mean that he will not love good painting," he added.

"It is the same as the art of sport. There are thousands of spectators to every player, but these spectators try to learn a bit about the game."

"This series will give the novice into art a chance to learn something about it and from learning, develop some answers to the whys and wherefores. This will be a good series."

City Wins Case On Licence Law

Kelowna has won an appeal before His Honor Judge A. D. C. Washington, who ruled the city's trade licensing bylaw is valid and that each hawk or peddler must have his own licence.

City council Monday night received a 16-page judgment on the case.

The case revolves around a salesman working for an Ontario company. He was charged with operating without a licence by Doug Johnson, city licence inspector.

The salesman appeared before Magistrate Denroche and was found not guilty. His lawyer maintained the company he worked for was innocent, while the city claimed the individual must pay the fee.

The city appealed the case. In his judgment, Judge Washington went over the whole case and a number of related cases cited by the lawyers involved.

NOT SALARIED

The criterion was the fact the salesman who was charged was selling at the retail level. The salesman was not an employee of the company, for he received no salary, simply a commission on the sales he made.

The parent company is not licensed to sell in Kelowna and the judge said the salesman was operating a business under the terms of the bylaw.

Judge Washington quoted from the sales manual of the supplier, that was tendered as an exhibit.

"Let us, in the following pages, arm you with the sales 'know-how' that will enable you to sell real light-saving to your customers through the medium of our product."

ACT CHANGED

The Municipal Act was changed in 1964 and the defendant argued the city bylaw was ultra vires because of these changes. Judge Washington concluded his judgment saying there was no change in the intent of the act.

"I find that... The Kelowna council was given a complete right to classify businesses according to the type of business and in so classifying they had the right to define one of such types of business by the name 'hawk', 'peddler' or 'buckster'."

"Also, I have had no difficulty whatsoever in concluding from the language contained in the various sections of Part X of the Municipal Act that the respondent herein was carrying on a business which was licensable under bylaw No. 2662 as authorized by Part X of the Municipal Act."

"It follows the appeal is allowed and I will hear counsel upon sentence and costs," said the judge.

Brian Weddell, the city solicitor, said today the judge had ruled September 29 that since this was a test case there would be no costs and gave the accused a six months suspended sentence.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

George Philippon, in a letter to city council Monday night, offered the city $2,400 for the lot at 145 Birch Ave. and his offer was refused by council. Some time ago the city had advertised that lot for tenders with a minimum bid of $3,000. There were no tenders received and council last week decided to put a for sale sign on the lot and re-submit it for tenders in six months.

On the recommendation of Ald. A. Roy Pollard, council is going to submit a resolution to the Okanagan Mainline Municipal association complimenting the provincial government on the safety laws that spent last week here, but asking them to now make inspections of motor vehicles an annual compulsory event. Ald. Pollard said he was "shocked" when he heard 71 per cent of the vehicles failed the test, making them "potential accident producers."

Ald. L. A. N. Patterson told council civic administration day was set for October 25 this year. That is the day teenagers from city schools spend the day in city businesses to learn first hand how the concern is run.

Since last Monday night is Thanksgiving night, council adjourned at the call of the chair.

Letters of condolences will be sent from council to the families of Roy Hag and Bill Shugg, two longtime members of the community, who died this past week.

Council gave first three readings to a bylaw to authorize issuance of a building placement certificate to Benjamin Schlegel. He is moving his home from 354 Rowcliffe Ave. to the 700 block on Burne Ave.

The Public Utilities Commission will hold a hearing on the application of Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. to reduce their rates, at a meeting in council chambers in Kelowna Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson asked Ald. David Chapman to arrange with the fire chief to have fire protection extended to the 8-11 Rd. Mountain Shadows area effective Tuesday in anticipation of that area coming into the city limits at the middle of the month. The same arrangements will be made through Ald. L. A. N. Patterson for garbage collection.

Mayor Parkinson and Ald. Pollard are going to see Staff Sgt. George Phillips to see if some arrangements can be made to clean up broken glass and pieces of vehicles after accidents. Ald. Jack Bedford said it should be part of the tow truck's responsibility to take away the whole car, not just a wheel.

Motorcycle Club Plans New Rally

The Kelowna Motorcycle club will hold a meeting in the Boys' Club, 310 Lawrence Ave., at 8 p.m. Wednesday, to discuss money-raising projects and events for the coming weekend.

Robert Giroux, president, said that results from the rally held at the track in McCulloch will be made public, and that non-members are welcome to attend.

Refuse Rezoning Without Reasons

Last May 14, Rex Lupton wrote city council and asked for rezoning of a plot of land at Valley Rd. and Glenmore drive. He said the owner of the property had been refused a subdivision plan in that area. The land in question is of an odd shape.

Monday night the Staff Planning Commission, over the signature of V. J. Wiener, the chairman, recommended no rezoning be considered. No reasons were given. When members of council objected to the lack of reasons, the matter was referred to committee.

Both Mayor Parkinson and Ald. Chapman said council could not make a decision on the planning group's recommendation until it knew the reasons for turning down rezoning.

Trick Or Treat Goes To Needy

Delegates from Kelowna or anywhere are invited to attend a meeting of the Kelowna branch of the United Nations association in the Presbyterian hall, Sutherland Ave., and Pandey St., Thursday at 8 p.m.

Arthur Drake, chairman, said the meeting will discuss the annual collection for UNICEF on Halloween. Any organization wishing to take part in this event is invited to attend.

Liquor Charges Crowd Calendar

There were seven charges under the Liquor Act heard in magistrate's court Monday, when Magistrate D. M. White levied a total of $165 in fines.

David James Hedrick, Highway 97, was fined $100 and costs or 30 days in default, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying liquor to a minor.

Fred Ingde, William Owen Roberts, and Jack Petrovsky, all of no fixed abode, were fined $25, $15 and $25, respectively, when they pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk in a public place.

Norma Meek, Stronell road, pleaded guilty to the same charge, and was sentenced to one day in jail.

Henry Andreas Slegman, Rutland, was remanded to Oct. 14, on a charge of impaired driving.

Harold Gienletti, no fixed address, pleaded not guilty to a charge of being drunk in public, and was remanded to Oct. 15 for trial.

Noisy Muffler Costs Man $25

An East Kelowna man, Max Koleschoff, was remanded one day for contempt when he pleaded guilty to a charge of wilful damage under $50, before Magistrate D. M. White, Monday.

John Edward Kinch, Rutland, was fined $25 and costs or seven days in default, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having an inadequate muffler on his car.

Members Of Parliament Non-Existent Now

In this, as in former election campaigns, former MPs who are running again are attempting to make political capital out of their former status by using the MP. In many cases this is doubtless simply an error through ignorance, while in other cases it is a calculated misrepresentation.

Actually, from the date Prime Minister Pearson asked the Governor-General to dissolve Parliament and the general election date of November 8th was set, there have been no Members of Parliament in Canada. It is impossible to be a member of a body that does not exist.

Some newspapers, too, have fallen into the natural error of referring to "the sitting member" or the "incumbent." Both these terms are incorrect. Members of the House of Commons of the last Parliament are now ordinary citizens; no more and no less. They do, however, retain certain rights and privileges from their former office of MP.

The most important is that their pay goes on until November 7th. They receive $1,000 a month, making up the basic $12,000 a year indemnity, plus another $6,000 tax-free for expenses, paid on a quarterly basis. In the 1940s when MPs received only $4,000 a year, their pay was prorated on a daily basis during the normal session and it frequently stopped before the session ended. There have been cases where MPs sat for up to three months without receiving any remuneration because the $4,000 limit had been reached. When this indemnity was doubled to $8,000, it was decided to pay it in 12 installments so MPs could more easily budget themselves and live within their incomes.

The 265 members elected November 8 will start receiving their indemnity on that day. Their election is first confirmed in the Canada Gazette about two weeks after election day. As soon as they are gazetted, they are put on the payroll retroactive to November 8. MPs who are re-elected on that day also retain their railway and airline passes and can continue to use their parliamentary offices. Their private secretaries were kept on until September 30, but will not be rehired until the new Parliament meets. Former Conservative cabinet ministers are permitted to retain their secretaries through the campaign period.

The one privilege the former MPs do lose is their mailing frank. This was cancelled 10 days after Prime Minister Pearson called the election.

But no person in Canada can legally and correctly designate himself as an "MP" now, nor can anyone until he has been gazetted as such after the November 8 election.

Canyon vs Columbia

(Wenatchee Daily World)

Reading about individual water projects one needs some perspective about how the various parts fit into a whole.

So it is with the dams proposed for the Grand Canyon. Conservationists opposing the dams because they think they will desecrate one of America's natural wonders make a damaging charge that they are not planned to save water or reclaim land, but only to generate power.

"Why risk spoiling the natural beauty of the Grand Canyon just for power, when power for the Southwest is available elsewhere?" they ask. It is a telling argument until you realize that the dams are planned to generate power that can be sold to finance a diversion of the Colorado River to alleviate critical Southwest water shortages.

So while the conservationists are right, they are also wrong. The dams are intended mainly for power production. But that power production is necessary to finance a reclamation project.

The aims of the controversial Colorado River project and how it fits in with the diversion of the Columbia River to the Southwest are clarified in the following article by Congressional Quarterly.

The conservationists already have succeeded in knocking out the Bridge Canyon Dam, at least for the time being. Bowing to their pressure, the Johnson Administration May 10 agreed that action on a Bridge Canyon authorization should be deferred—probably for five years. The conservationists are now turning their fire on Marble Canyon. Should they succeed in knocking that out, too, the whole project might well be killed.

Although it contains two large power dams, the key feature of the Lower Colorado bill is the proposal to build 400 miles of aqueducts and pumping stations to bring water overland from the Colorado River, at the western border of Arizona, to the central and southern portions of the state, around Phoenix and Tucson.

Arizona hopes to move 1.2 million acre-feet overland each year, to substitute for irreplaceable ground water now being pumped out of the earth. Spokesmen for the state say that without diverting water from the Colorado, the economic and population growth of the central and southern parts of the state would be severely checked.

Proposals for the diversion plan, however, have been blocked for many years by fears of other states that the plan would use up Colorado River water which they themselves vitally needed, and to which they had a legal claim.

The problem is that the Colorado River doesn't really have enough water to go around. The 1922 Colorado River Compact and subsequent actions allocated 7.5 million acre-feet (an acre-foot is 325,900 gallons) a year to the Upper Basin states (New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming), an equal amount to the Lower Basin states (Arizona, Nevada, California) and 1.5 million acre-feet a year is needed to cover evaporation loss in the Lower Basin. That adds up to about 17.5 million acre-feet a year, but the river actually has only 13-15 million available. So far, not all the states are using their entitlements, and total use is only about 12 million acre-feet a year.

But the states are seeking to expand their consumption rapidly over the next few decades, and many of them fear that their own expansion would be blocked if the Central Arizona diversion unit were to be built.

That is where the two power dams come in. Revenues from the dam's power sales would be used to build up a "development fund" which would finance the construction of dams, aqueducts or other structures to "import" at least 2.5 million acre-feet a year of water from outside the Colorado River region, thus helping make up the shortage. If this could be done, the other states would not have to fear the central Arizona diversion scheme.

Chances for the Lower Colorado bill took a big step forward early this year when Arizona agreed to give California a guarantee that in case of future shortages, water supplies for the Central Arizona diversion unit would be cut back before California had to take any reduction in its legal entitlement of 4.4 million acre-feet. Another step forward was taken Aug. 20 when guarantees were granted to Colorado and the other Upper Basin states that construction of the Central Arizona unit would not block future increases in water use in the Upper Basin, up to the amount to which the Upper Basin states are legally entitled. Details must be worked out, however.

But these guarantees depend heavily on the scheme to import water from other areas, such as the Columbia River. And here, the opposition of the conservationists is a key factor. By knocking out the Bridge and Marble Canyon Dams, they would knock out the financing for the water importation scheme and split the whole carefully worked out package of guarantees apart. Elimination of Bridge Canyon alone would seriously impair the financing of the future water importation scheme but would not necessarily be fatal to it, but the loss of revenue from both dams would be insuperable. Dangers to the water importation scheme also come from the Pacific Northwest states, which are reluctant to let Columbia River water be sent south for use of the Colorado River states. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) recently helped push through Congress a provision forbidding the Interior Department to study any water importation schemes unless first authorized by Congress. This would give Jackson, who heads the Senate Interior Committee, authority to survey all water importation plans before studies begin in order to protect his region.

"OH, NO! IF IT ISN'T TOTAL WAR, IT'S THE TOTAL LOOK"

Election Candidates Told How To Avoid "Missing Bus"

OTTAWA (CP)—The nomination papers prepared for federal election candidates now contain detailed instructions to reduce the number of mistakes and disqualifications.

In 1963, only one prospective candidate failed to be nominated, but in previous elections there have been more.

The 1963 incident occurred in the Ontario riding of Kenora-

Rainy River where Colin Wilson of the New Democratic Party showed up at the returning officer's location on nomination day but the cheque for his $200 deposit wasn't certified.

Mr. Wilson tried to test the clock but his home town was some distance away and he didn't get back in time.

Nomination deadline in the Nov. 8 election this year is 2 p.m. local standard time Monday, Oct. 25, in 242 ridings. In 21 large, scattered ridings, nominations close at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 12, the day after Thanksgiving Day, a statutory holiday.

In British Columbia, Pacific Daylight Time is legally considered Pacific Standard Time and is so recognized for election purposes.

A candidate must have his nomination papers signed by at least 25 voters in his riding. A witness must take an oath that the names are all bona fide voters and must accompany the candidate when he files his nomination papers.

BARRED BY OCCUPATION
Each candidate deposits $200, which is forfeited to the federal treasury if he polls less than half as many votes as the winning candidate.

A candidate must qualify as a voter, be 21 when filing his nomination papers, resident in Canada on the date the election writ was issued—Sept. 8 in this case—and be a Canadian citizen or British subject who has lived in the country for at least a year.

Members of the armed forces, in peacetime, government contractors other than those holding government annuities, sheriffs, clerks of the peace and crown attorneys are forbidden to run.

In the 1962 election, Flt. Lt. Lucien Bachand was nominated as Social Credit candidate for Terrebonne (Que.) while still in the RCAP.

He was allowed to run because the returning officer had issued him a receipt for his $200 deposit, which the Canada Elections Act says is "conclusive evidence that the candidate has been duly and regularly nominated."

He was discharged from the RCAP five days before the June 18 election, in which he was defeated.

The candidate delegates handling of election funds to an agent. Personal spending, such as his own hotel bills and travel expenses, is limited by law to $2,000.

If a candidate wishes to withdraw from the election he must do so not later than 8 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 28, the 11th day before the election.

Cuba To Grow More Fruit Crops

HAVANA (Reuters)—Cuba is trying to produce more citrus fruit as part of a campaign to diversify its economy.

Work is already under way on several large plantations, in which women will provide the main labor force.

The project, under the direct control of Premier Castro, is one of the measures being taken to reduce Cuba's dependence on a single crop—sugar.

With world sugar prices unstable, Castro has been examining various other agricultural plans to provide the necessary resources for subsequent full industrialization.

VICTORIA MERRY-GO-ROUND

Two Sour Notes Lead To Third

By JAMES E. NEHRITT

VICTORIA—Well, there's one cheery note on the horizon, and it is this: three months from today Christmas and the New Year will be over for another year. All we'll then have to worry about is paying the bills.

Now, that's a sour note I've sounded, and all I really started out to say is that next year will be a year of celebration, leading up to the Canadian centennial of 1967. The only worry I can see for next year is that our unpredictable Premier Bennett might call an election, just to be on the safe side, for the more frequent elections the better chance our elected representatives have of perpetuating themselves in office.

Well, for goodness sake, there I've gone and sounded another sour note, and all I want to say is that next year will be the 100th anniversary of the union of the crown colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia.

The crown colony of Vancouver Island was born in 1860 and the crown colony of British Columbia in 1868. They were completely separate, almost foreign, one unto the other, their only common speaking point was that they had the same royal governor, James Douglas, who spent much of his time shuttling back and forth between his capitals of Victoria and New Westminster. When Douglas retired in 1864, it was necessary, as a monumental figure was he to have two men to follow him, Arthur Edward Kennedy as governor of Vancouver Island and Frederick Seymour as governor of British Columbia.

What amazes me, as I look back, is the speed with which union was accomplished, when today we can't get neighboring municipalities and cities together as one which many should be in the interest of efficiency and economy.

There are big plans afoot for next year, Premier Bennett's dream is to have the Queen come to British Columbia. Her Majesty has been invited, personally by the Premier, and through formal channels, and our premier is awaiting, on Uppity-toes, to hear whether the Royal lady will make the visit that's so dear to his heart.

Our premier does not give up easily, and I'd think that on his recent visit to London he was pulling some wires, though there was nothing in news dispatches to indicate that he had been received at Buckingham Palace, or Balmoral or Windsor or Sandringham, or on the royal yacht Britannia, by H.M.

He made it to the Pope, and he had a chat with the late President Kennedy, in private, in Seattle, and be welcomed, in public, President Johnson to British Columbia, and he has been received in audience by the Crown Prince of Japan, but as far as I can learn he has never been to see the Queen in England, though he has been received by Her Majesty in Ottawa and here.

Well, in the premier's view, the Queen's visit next year would be the greatest event of the 100th birthday of the union of the two colonies, though, truth to tell, I do not think the general public is to fuss about royal visits, considering their terrific cost, and the fact that only stuffy officialdom gets to shake the royal hand.

Now, there's another sour note, and all I really want to do is remind you that next year will be a big year.

Paris Wants Out Into Suburbs

PARIS (Reuters)—As part of a move to encourage Paris workers to live outside the city, the French capital's subway system is to be equipped with robot-controlled trains traveling at 60 miles an hour. Engineers already are at work on an express system when it is completed in 1969, it will serve the outer suburbs of Paris on two lines crossing the city from east to west and north to south.

It is hoped the new lines will encourage people to live out of town and the city authorities, working in co-operation with the suburbs, are building more houses in the areas the trains will serve.

Canada's Story

By BOB BOWMAN

In wartime one disaster often leads to another. Captain Robert Barclay's defeat on Lake Erie by U.S. Captain Perry in September 1813 led to a chain of disasters. The British army commander in the area between Hamilton and Windsor, Ontario, was General Procter. He had given Captain Barclay 250 soldiers to help man his ships, and also stripped Fort Malden of its guns.

When the men and guns were lost, Procter's force was reduced to 877 regulars, plus Tecumseh's 1,200 Indians. Procter knew it was necessary to abandon Detroit and withdraw from the peninsula, but he knew the Indians would be displeased, and delayed before telling them the news.

Tecumseh was contemptuous. He accused General Procter of being a fat dog running away with his tail between his legs, and asked the British to give the Indians their guns so they could stand and fight.

The American commander was General Harrison. He had been the victor over the Indians at Tippecanoe, and he felt sure he could destroy Tecumseh's force. Harrison had 4,500 infantry, and a brigade of Kentucky cavalry who were very successful in attacking the Indians in the woods.

Procter finally persuaded Tecumseh to retreat with him, and fight another day.

They got past Chatham, Ontario, but then Tecumseh, who had been wounded in rear guard fighting, insisted on making a stand. There was a narrow road near the Indian village of Moraviantown, and Procter agreed to try to check the American there—rather than desert—Tecumseh.

The action was all over in a few minutes. The American cavalry ran through the defenses in a few minutes. Tecumseh was killed, but his body was never found. The American soldiers made razor-thin lines of Indian skins and presented them to members of Congress. General Procter was court-martialed and acquitted, but he never got over the disgrace.

Tasty Dishes Using Simple Fool-Proof Rice Recipes

RICE INDUSTRY
1 cup uncooked rice
2 cups broth
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup white raisins
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup toasted almonds
Combine rice, broth, butter, raisins, and salt in saucepan. Bring to a boil and stir. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Add almonds and mix lightly with a fork. Serves 6-8.

CALAS
1 1/2 cups cooked rice, very soft
1/2 package yeast, active dry or compressed
1/2 cup warm, not hot, water
3 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Mash rice grains and cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water and stir in lukewarm rice. Mix well. Cover and let rise overnight. The next morning, add eggs, flour, sugar, salt and nutmeg. Beat until smooth. Let stand in a warm place for 30 minutes. Drop by tablespoons into deep hot fat (350 degrees) and fry until golden brown, about 3 minutes. Serve sprinkled with powdered sugar or sugar mixed with cinnamon. Makes 2 dozen. (These are excellent served with fruit or maple syrup.)

HONEY RICE
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup corn syrup (dark)
1/2 cup cooked rice (about 1 1/2 cups uncooked)
1/2 cup raisins
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon rind
1 1/2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup sherry
1/2 cup nuts, toasted, chopped
Heat the honey and corn syrup in a heavy pan and add the cooked rice, raisins, lemon rind, and butter. Cook about 5 minutes. Pour mixture into a well-buttered shallow baking dish. Cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) until golden brown, about 40 minutes. Remove from oven and stir in lemon juice and sherry. Serve in dessert dishes and top with chopped nuts. Serves 8. (Rice may be cooked in orange juice and extra orange juice may be substituted for sherry.)

October Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Buhler of Westbank announce the marriage of their elder daughter Doreen Ann Jonsson to James Alfred Davies, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Davies of North Vancouver.

The wedding took place on October 2 at the United Church in Summerland with Rev. Philip Louie officiating. Miss Patil Jonsson was her sister's bridesmaid, and the groom's brother, Robert Davies, acted as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Berg in Summerland, and the young couple are now enjoying a three-week honeymoon motoring through the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies will reside at 3171 Lakeshore road, Kelowna.

ANN LANDERS

Psychiatry Needed Loosen The Lines

Dear Ann Landers: I am an 18-year-old girl whose parents want me to do something I don't want to do. Please advise me. My best friend who is also 18 tried to commit suicide yesterday. I don't think she really meant to kill herself. She is a smart girl and she'd know how to finish the job if she really wanted to. I think she was only seeking attention.

This girl is attractive and lives in a lovely home and has plenty of money to spend. She's always had trouble with her parents. They give her money and gifts instead of love, and she resents it. My folks say I must stop seeing her because she is not right mentally and she might attack me. They also say it will hurt my reputation if I go around with her.

My friend tells me things she could never tell anyone else and I know it helps to get things off her chest. She needs me more than ever now. What shall I do? — TORN.

Dear Torn: Your loyalty is admirable, and I agree that it would be wrong to abandon the girl completely. Nonetheless, you should loosen the lines. Your friend is unstable and the attachment could be destructive to both of you.

She should be unloading on a psychiatrist. Urge her to get that kind of help.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a problem that I have never heard of in my whole life and I'll bet you have never heard of it either.

I'm 16 years old, a good student, better than average looking and I have plenty of dates. So what's the problem? My mother wants me to go steady, and I don't want to.

My mother was born in Europe and she came here at age 19. This may account for some of her odd ideas. She says it is not decent for a girl to date five or six different fellows. According to her it means that the boys pass the word from one to the other that she's an easy mark and they are all having a good time with her.

PETER'S PATER

with PETER MUNOZ

That contagious illness which strikes on a yearly cycle is just around the corner again. World Series fever has taken hold and will hit with devastating effect in less than 24 hours. Although it doesn't become acute until Mudgett Grant leaves the first homebase Wednesday, early symptoms have been visible for a couple of days. Odds quoting, laying of the wagers and just plain old "expert" squawking are the most vivid of these.

Valley high school football, this Friday night's game at Eike Stadium shapes up as the key clash of the season. The only two unbeaten clubs meet in almost a replay of last season's scenario. Kelowna Cubs, 1964 runners-up to defending champions Vernon Panthers, put their three-game skid on the line against the same Panthers, who haven't lost in two starts.

Should the Cubs get by this major obstacle they could safely be considered shoo-ins for top honors... providing they don't show any of their remaining games against some of the "weaker" competition.

There are some rumblings evident in Buckaroos' camp as they head into the second week. Earlier in the seasons some of the newcomers weren't in the happiest state of mind. The influx of so many new faces apparently shook some of the standbys.

This week a new problem erupted with a sophomore member of the organization. The big smooth centre has been railing management and causing discipline problems. Nothing definite but word is that the club is on the verge of letting him go. They feel they can afford to specially with the substance of front line talent on hand.

Balance will be the keynote of the forward alignments this season but the baseline still threatens to be Buckaroos' "let of day." Unless they can keep up with at least another strong rearward... they could have troubles if not in their own loop, when and if they try for the B.C. title again.

Warmed man blues... With the recent turn of events in the Canadian Football League, the eastern members must be worrying in large doses. The fearless and tenacious Hamilton Tornadoes were humbled twice successively by western clubs in the last week and Calgary applied a defeat to Ottawa Rough Riders in the same span, with a follow-up job by Saskatchewan.

This is an unusual happening indeed when the two top eastern clubs get their lumps in this fashion. Here is the occasion when Tornadoes go down two straight. The way it shapes up the west looks much stronger at this stage... but all this could be different come Grey Cup time... Those easterners are funny that way.

"Farmhands" Delight In Chore Of Thrashing Parent NHL Club

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It must have been either Punch Imlach or Milt Schmidt who wrote that old song hit, "How're You Gettin' On The Farm?"

Schmidt and Imlach, the respective coaches of Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs, are still two weeks away from trimming their rosters to the National Hockey League limit of 18. And already their early rejects are coming back to haunt them.

It happened to Schmidt Saturday when the Bruins were flattened 4-3 by Oklahoma City Blazers, their Central Professional League affiliate. It was Imlach's turn Monday night as the Leafs were beaten 3-2 by Rochester Americans, champions of the American Hockey League and the No. 1 Toronto farm club.

The dignity of Toe Blake whose Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup last spring, remained untroubled Monday as the Habs whipped Quebec Aces 5-1 for their third successive victory over minor league opposition.

Two of the three Rochester goals were scored by Jim Pappin and Ed Joyal, players loaned to the Americans for the evening. The third came from Gerry Ehman, a Leaf playoff hero seven years ago who doesn't figure to be back.

TOOK EARLY LEAD Dave Keon and Bob Pulford gave Toronto an early two-goal lead before the roof fell in on the Leafs, who were playing their third game in as many nights.

A former Leaf, left-winger Dick Duff, fired two goals for the Canadians as they romped to a 4-0 lead over the Aces before Wayne Hicks put the lovers on the score sheet in the third period. Red Berenson, Jean Beliveau and Gilles Tremblay were the other Montreal scorers.

No other exhibition games were played by NHL clubs but the Bruins and Rangers were busy sorting out personnel problems. Boston attacked away the signed contracts of Reggie File ming and Johnny Bucyk, two of Schmidt's top scorers last season, plus rookie goaltender Bernie Parent, defenceman Bob Woytowich and right-winger Ron Stewart, who came to the club from Toronto in an off-season trade.

The Rangers signed goaltender Ed Giacomin, their acquisition from Providence Red of the AHL, and defenceman Wayne Hillman and assigned right-winger Marc Dufour to Baltimore Clippers, another AHL club.

Cards Hit Fast To Dump Dallas

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinals scored the first two times they got the ball and their alert defence held off Dallas in the final period as they dealt the Cowboys their first defeat, 20-13, Monday night in a National Football League game.

The result left the two clubs in a four-way tie with New York Giants and Cleveland Browns for first place in the Eastern Conference.

The Cardinals took the opening kickoff and Charley Johnson marched them 75 yards for the first touchdown on a four-yard pitch to Sonny Randle. St. Louis moved 73 yards in their next series, Bill Triplett racing 10 yards around end for the score.

The only Dallas touchdown came with 20 seconds remaining in the half when Mel Renfro intercepted a deflected pass and galloped 90 yards for the score.

Jim Bakken of St. Louis and Danny Villanueva of Dallas each kicked two field goals.

High Altitude To "Shatter Records"

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—A Mexican professor predicts that many Olympic and world records will be broken at the 1968 Olympic Games here because of the high altitude—7,500 feet.

Prof. Ramiro Arechiga, technical director of the Mexican organizing committee, said he thinks that sprint, jumping and throwing records in particular would fall because of the relative thinness of the atmosphere compared with that at sea level.

OHRA Clinic Here Saturday

The Okanagan Hockey Referees Association, in conjunction with the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, will hold its first annual referees clinic in Kelowna Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 4 and 5.

Blair Peters, OHRA president, said the clinic is open to all interested persons and not just for experienced officials.

"It's aim is to foster better officiating at all levels of the game in the area, particularly at the junior level," he said.

"We intend to groom younger men for future work in junior or higher categories."

Peters, a one-time professional referee in the Western Hockey League, said he'd like all persons now working—or interested in working—minor hockey games in the Okanagan to attend this clinic and register with the OHRA.

The BCHA also requires that a referee must register with the branch this season if he wishes to referee in other than house league games, in his own association.

The weekend clinic will start with registration at 10 a.m. Saturday and the first session will follow after lunch. It will continue all Saturday afternoon with instruction and discussion in the Okanagan Room of Kelowna Memorial Arena.

Sunday morning the clinic will take to the ice and participants will need skates for this portion. Instruction for the sessions is by Jim Malley of Trail, a referee with the Western International League.

OHRA members from Kamloops, Penticton and Kelowna will attend the clinic as well as interested persons from as far as Revelstoke.

Peters said the OHRA is currently awaiting word from the Okanagan Junior Hockey League on its offer to officiate league games this season. The OHRA opens its fifth season Friday, Oct. 15.

Other BCHA sponsored clinics are planned for Kamloops Oct. 16 and 17 and Vernon, Oct. 23 and 24.

CHANGE IN VOLLEYBALL LINEUP "MAY BENEFIT" FANS HERE

A late change in plans may actually be an advantage for volleyball fans in this area. The U.S. national teams, slated to play the touring Soviet Olympic teams here Sunday, Oct. 17 at Kelowna Memorial Arena, will not be coming.

Instead the Russian "A" squad will play the Soviet's second best team in the future men's game, Dave Turkington, chairman of the Kelowna committee organizing the exhibition here, said.

"Spectators will probably see much better volleyball as a result," he said. "The Americans were outclassed by the Russians at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics."

"Naturally it is somewhat disappointing not to have the U.S. team in Kelowna in an international competition, still the world champion Russians are the ultimate in the world of volleyball."

Turkington explained the reason for the cancellation of the U.S. team was because the Russians agreed to only play them six times on the tour which takes in 15 cities in Canada. The Russian women's team will meet a bolstered B.C. Women's team who were Canadian champions last year. Three outstanding players from Portland will strengthen the club.

In a preliminary game Winfield's George Elliot second-year school's boys' team will meet either the Victoria secondary school or Kelowna secondary school.

Tickets are now on sale at Feedham and Sons Smoke Shop on Bernard and Ellis. Student tickets are available at all secondary schools in the district.

Reed Propels West's Roughies To Win Over East's Version

REGINA (CP)—George Reed propelled Saskatchewan Roughriders to a 21-13 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in a Canadian Football League interlocking game here Monday night.

Fullback Reed from Washington State scored three touchdowns, ran for 165 yards, caught one pass for 13 yards, moved into third place in the WFL scoring race, and moved Ottawa coach Frank Clair, a 15-year veteran of Canadian football, to exclaim:

"I have never seen anyone run as hard as Reed did tonight. He was better than I've ever seen Lovell Coleman."

It was no small tribute. Coleman, Calgary Stampeder's fullback, had a Western Conference all-star for the last two years and was named Canada's outstanding player last season.

Reed broke 24 yards off tackle for the first touchdown, smashed one yard for the second after getting the team a crucial first down on a third-and-one situation and carried three yards around right end for the third.

LEADS IN RUSHING It gave him 55 points on nine touchdowns and a single and moved his league-leading rushing total to 1,191 yards in 12 games.

It also gave Saskatchewan another chance to take a good solid look at a playoff position, moving them into a third-place tie with British Columbia Lions at 13 points. Calgary leads with 16 and Winnipeg Blue Bombers have 14, but B.C. has a game in hand.

Ottawa is tied with Hamilton Tiger-Cats with 12 points for the EFC leadership. Montreal has eight points while Toronto trails with two.

More than 12,500 fans in Taylor Field watched as Saskatchewan built up a 21-0 lead heading into the fourth quarter. Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson struck for two quick touchdowns on passes to end Ted Watkins to move within a converted touchdown late in the fourth quarter. With less than four minutes to go, he had Ottawa knocking on the door again from the 25-yard line, but gained only nine yards in three pass attempts to kill his last chance.

RUSS JACKSON... vain attempt

"Jackson showed great courage out there," Clair said. "He jammed his thumb badly in the second quarter. It swelled badly and he practically had to palm his passes in the second half. But he almost pulled it out."

Ticats Licking Sunday Wounds

HAMILTON (CP)—Three members of Hamilton Tiger-Cats were on the injured list after the team's 26-30 loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Canadian Football League interlocking game Sunday in Winnipeg.

Art Baker damaged an ankle late in the game and preliminary examination Monday indicated he may have suffered a hairline fracture.

Herb Paterra, who went into the game nursing a sore shoulder and wrist, damaged a knee in the second quarter but continued to play after it was lightly taped.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—"Win it all, Twins," the signs here implore but the feeling is Minnesota may not take a single game from Los Angeles Dodgers, whose matchless pitching may perpetrate a four-game sweep of the World Series by the National League champions.

In 1963, the same Dodgers, behind the dazzling pitching of Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and John Podres, stunned New York Yankees in four straight games. Koufax and Drysdale are still around, more menacing than ever. Podres has been replaced on the big three by another southpaw, Claude Osteen.

Osteen's 15-15 record for the campaign is modest compared to Koufax' 26-8 and Drysdale's 23-12, but Dodgers manager Walter Alston is mindful that when Osteen pitched for Washington Senators in the American League, he defeated the Twins six times without a loss.

Minnesota's Jim (Mudcat) Grant, Jim Kaat and Camille Pascual do not exactly comprise a sickly trio but not even the most avid American League reader would put them in the same class.

Pitching, as everybody knows, is 75 per cent of the game. In the Dodgers' case, it is 90 per cent. Since good pitching usually stops good hitting, it would not cause too much of a stir if the Dodgers won in the shortest time possible.

The Series, 4-2 between the rival league champions, opens Wednesday with Drysdale opposing Grant.

The 30-year-old ace of the Twins' staff posted a 23-7 record during the regular season. Professional odds-makers favor the Dodgers behind the right-handed Drysdale by 10-to-11 odds for the opening game despite the Twins' home advantage. The same betting agency rules the Dodgers a 3-to-7 favorite to win the Series and with give 15 to 1 against a Dodgers sweep. The odds against a Dodgers sweep in 1963 were 27 to 1.

Power must win it for the Twins. Manager Sam Mele will rely on the heavy hands of Harmon Killebrew, Tony Oliva, Jimmie Hall, Don Mincher, Bob Allison and Earl Battey to offset the Dodgers' superiority in speed and pitching.

Los Angeles writers called the Dodgers a "cap gun" offense team. One writer said he'd seem more power in a second-hand lawn mower.

"I keep hearing that we don't score any runs," observed Alston. "But we usually manage to score more than the opposition. We use what you might call a scratch, slide and steal type of attack."

"We may survive somebody in the World Series," Alston added. "We might change tactics and even hit a home run or two."

Grant has a never pitched against the Dodgers. Neither has Drysdale against the Twins, but Don has the advantage of World Series experience. The 26-year-old Drysdale defeated Chicago White Sox in 1959 and shut out the Yankees in '61. This will be Grant's World Series debut.

Thursday's match-up figures to be Koufax against Kaat. Sandy, virtually certain to be voted the Cy Young Award, denoting baseball's best pitcher, won his 26th game in pitching the pennant clincher against the Braves last Saturday. He set a major league season strikeout mark with 362 and tied another major league record by winning his fourth straight earned run title at 2.66.

Kaat's 1965 record is 18-11. The third game, first at Los Angeles, next Saturday, will pit Osteen 15-15 against Pascual 9-12.

Killebrew's Whistling Liners Bring Smiles To Mele's Lips

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Harmon Killebrew sent a couple of line drives whistling out of the batting cage over the shortstop's head and Sam Mele couldn't suppress a smile.

"That's the best sign I've seen in quite a while—Harmon hitting like that," Minnesota Twins' manager said. "He's one of the key men in this series. If he hits like he can, it will make us pretty darn tough."

The scene was the Twins' batting practice Monday. They planned another workout today, then meet Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday in the 1963 World Series opener in Metropolitan Stadium.

Killebrew was sidelined seven weeks with a dislocated left elbow, the result of a baseball collision with Russ Snyder of Baltimore Orioles Aug. 2. After he returned, he had to start all over again getting the timing of his swing.

But Harmon hit three home runs in Minnesota's last five games, including homers on each of the last two days of the regular season.

The only injury of any concern to Mele is the pulled thigh muscle in Tony Oliva's right leg. It kept him out of the Twins' last five games, although he could have played if Minnesota had needed him badly.

Johnson Sets Gears In Motion On U.S. Haven For Cubans

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson set the gears of government and diplomacy in motion today to offer U.S. refuge to Cubans who seek to leave the Communist island of Fidel Castro.

"I declare to the people of Cuba that those who seek refuge here in America will find it," Johnson said Sunday in a ceremony at the Statue of Liberty on Liberty Island in New York Harbor.

"The dedication of America to our traditions as an asylum for the oppressed is going to be upheld."

Dief To Write Book On Life

TORONTO (CP) — Conservative Leader Diefenbaker said Sunday he plans to write the story of his career, including the 1963 revolt of some of his cabinet and his cool relations with the late U.S. president, John F. Kennedy.

Mr. Diefenbaker talked to newspaper men during a visit here to make an election campaign film for TV. He said he is deferring discussion of the cabinet split because "people would go under cover" if he gave details now and he didn't want to have to fight the election campaign "on two fronts."

"I have always found this when you straighten up a situation, don't go back in I've never discussed that (the cabinet defections). When I do it will be a very interesting story."

May Imports Show Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Imports in May totalled $737,000,000, an increase of just 12 per cent from the May, 1964, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Earlier the bureau had estimated May exports at $766,300,000, leaving a trade surplus for the month of $29,300,000.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♣ 2♣ 3♣ 4♣
5♣ 6♣ 7♣ 8♣

Opening lead—seven of clubs. When an unusual bid occurs at the table, whether the bid is made by the opponents or your partner, you are supposed to try to figure out what that bid means.

Some bids are so startling that you know very well they don't mean what they say. The problem which then arises of figuring out what the bid means is not always easy to solve.

Let's say you have the West hand and your partner doubles five hearts on the sequence shown. It makes no sense to assume that East suddenly found a couple of aces in his hand which he overlooked when he made the preemptive overcall of three spades.

After all, it is almost universal to play a three spade bid in this sequence as showing a weak hand with lots of spades. Usually the overall denotes an absence of defensive tricks, though it is of course possible to have one.

Hence, the double of five hearts cannot reasonably indicate the high-card strength necessary to take defensive tricks. The double is bound to be conventional, that is, it must be based on a hand containing a void with the prospect of a right opening lead beating the contract.

A spade lead being barred, you have to choose between a club or diamond. The choice is not 100% clear and either lead might turn out right or wrong in a given hand, but the odds heavily favor a club lead. This conclusion can be reached on the simple basis that the opponents are more likely to have seven clubs between them than 11 diamonds.

If you lead a club, the contract goes down one or two, depending on whether declarer elects to finesse. Assuming he does, your partner ruffs, returns a spade, and you give him another ruff to defeat the contract one trick. If declarer does not finesse the opening lead, which is certainly possible, he goes down two.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Over-enthusiasm will continue to afflict many on Wednesday, so use care in dealings with others — especially those of the opposite sex. These planetary afflictions will lift during the late P.M., so all should find a welcome release from tension.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that it would be advisable for you to take advantage of all available opportunities to advance your occupational status and make plans to improve your financial standing as of now, even though results of your efforts may not be immediate. The period between late December and mid-February will be excellent along both these lines but, upon the foundation you lay now will depend the successes of 1966. Next beneficial cycles governing material interests: June (truly excellent!), August and September. The last two weeks of April will also be outstanding for career advancement, and late December and mid-May will be highly propitious for negotiating successful business transactions which will simultaneously add to your prestige.

The late December days should be happy ones for all Librans, with interesting developments forecast, not only along the aforementioned material lines, but also where romance and social activities are concerned. Other good months for romance: April, May and August. Household and family matters should run smoothly for most of the year ahead, but do try to avoid friction in close circles in early March and early June. This you can do if you determine to curb your innate tendency to be over-exacting with others and an insistence on always having your own way. Most auspicious periods for travel: Early February and the late-May-to-September period of next year.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a great sense of justice, an instinctively fine social sense and great proficiency in the arts.

Monaco Makes Strong Bid To Retain Tourist Horde

The AP World Spotlight this week outlines Monaco's efforts to keep ahead of its Mediterranean rivals in the tourist-hungry money-making business. It also looks at Cuba's broken-down auto problem and runs through the slang expressions peculiar to the war in South Viet Nam.

MONTE CARLO (AP)—How should the prospective tourist think of Monaco—as a diamond-laden dowager or as a bronzed young maiden in a bikini?

A quarrel over the image and how to make the most money out of it, has touched off a financial power struggle in this swathed little principality.

Monaco lives off hotels, restaurants, curio shops and the money dropped on the roulette and dice tables and poured into the slot machines at the casino.

It's not that tourist business has been bad. Monaco had more visitors this year than ever before but fewer stayed overnight. The stays seem to be getting shorter.

Monaco officials keep a very close eye on the principality's budget. Now that figure is less than four per cent, but the society still is the economic heart of Monte Carlo. It owns the richest real estate. It is the principality's largest employer, with a payroll of 2,500. It owns five big hotels, a golf course, tennis club and other attractions.

The society says its profits are only about $600,000 a year and its reserves won't permit any massive capital outlays.

That sets the stage for the power struggle which pits Prince Rainier against Aristide Onassis, Greek shipowner who speaks for the society.

Prince Rainier and his ancestors, the Grimaldi family, have ruled Monaco—with brief interruptions—since the end of the 13th century. Onassis, using profits from his shipping fleet, bought controlling interest in the society about 10 years ago.

Late in 1953, Rainier took an option to buy the 52,000 shares of society stock that Onassis holds through 48 Panamanian companies.

The price on the Paris Bourse then was about $13 a share. Onassis asked $20. The prince and his government refused to buy. Informed guesses put the price Onassis paid at about $10.

With an anger and aggressiveness that belie his title of his serene highness, Rainier has vowed a showdown with Onassis. This month, the prince is expected to seek the advice of the 18-member National Council, the principality's parliament.

Three courses appear to be open: One would be nationalization, which apparently no one our attraction to the wealthy," said an official. "But the prince is not populated by multimillionaires. We've got to find ways of appealing to those just a little lower on the financial ladder. We need more modest, modern facilities to attract business executives and young people. Of course, Monaco will never base its tourist industry on vacationing factory workers who live in tents and eat sandwiches out of cans."

Prince Rainier and his government are soliciting outside capital to build hotels. They envisage a new convention hall with studios for recording and television productions. A Swiss-Italian-French combination has agreed to pay for filling in a block of sea where apartments, light industry and the hotels would be built.

The government also wants the established Société des Bains de Mer (see bathing society) to be practically merged with Monte Carlo. It has had the monopoly on gambling since 1866.

At one time it provided 10 per cent of the principality's budget. Now that figure is less than four per cent, but the society still is the economic heart of Monte Carlo. Kilroy Hasn't Been To Viet Nam Yet — Hardly Anyone Sorry About That SAIGON (AP)—Kilroy hasn't been to this war yet, but no body in Viet Nam is sorry about that.

Each generation of warriors coins its own slang expressions and catch phrases.

"Kilroy was here" was the watchword of the Second World War. It was painted on bombed-out buildings in Europe, scrawled in sand on the beaches of the South Pacific and written in chalk on bombs and explosives, trucks and troop transports.

"Sorry about that" seems to be the main slang slogan to come out of the war in Viet Nam. Saigon bar girls sing it out in their high musical voices when a patron asks for a date.

Sergeants use it to tell privates why they can't have a pass or get out of guard duty. Captains say it to colonels in explaining why they couldn't hold a certain perimeter or why the Viet Cong got away. Even generals find themselves saying, "sorry about that," when an operation fails or misfires or overruns the wrong village.

THERE'S A WAR ON

It's a mildly sarcastic expression meaning the transgression really isn't all that sorry, but there's a war and what can you do about it?

A pretty native girl or a fine Vietnamese officer or an efficient head waiter is "number one."

The worst of anything or anybody in any category is automatically "number ten."

Here is a glossary of Vietnamese war slang, not all of it original with this war but all of it in common daily usage.

Goodies — Anything that arrives by convoy, supplies dropped by parachute, sometimes even bombs when directed at the enemy.

No sweat — No trouble at all, glad to oblige.

Reds Almost Wipe Out U.S. Patrol In Viet Nam

SAIGON (Reuters) — Viet Cong guerrillas ambushed a U.S. Army patrol in South Vietnam 15 miles northeast of Saigon today, killing or wounding every man in the unit.

The patrol, consisting of less than 12 men, was hit early this morning and within a few minutes all lay either dead or wounded.

The men were from the U.S. Army 1st Infantry Division based at the strategic Bien Hoa air base, 12 miles outside Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman describing the patrol action said the army unit had been on a routine night patrol and was returning to Bien Hoa shortly after dawn today.

It was ambushed while moving through jungle terrain within its area of defence responsibility around the air base.

Another patrol a short distance away heard the shooting and rushed to the area.

But by the time it got there the fighting had flamed and the Viet Cong had withdrawn into the jungle.

The spokesman officially described the American casualties as heavy—the first time the war in Viet Nam that American casualties have been so described.

The spokesman added two Viet Cong bodies were found at the scene of the fighting.

Viet Cong units also struck two heavy blows against government forces Monday, overrunning a mountain village and mauling a river assault group in the Mekong Delta.

A Communist force estimated 121,700 as of Sept. 30. There has been speculation the continuing buildup of American military strength may go as high as 200,000 by the end of the year.

In an interview with a Japanese newspaper, Premier Pham Van Dong of North Viet Nam admitted his government has used anti-aircraft missiles against U.S. planes. Four U.S. planes are believed to have been shot down over North Viet Nam by missiles.

Government forces claimed 10 Viet Cong killed in two other actions Monday — 70 in the southernmost province of An Kuyen and 31 in heavy fighting near the Phu Cu Pass in Binh Dinh province. Heavy government casualties were reported in the Phu Cu fighting.

USED CHILDREN

U.S. authorities charged Viet Cong guerrillas used children as shields against American gunfire while crossing a stream under surveillance by U.S. aircraft Friday. The incident occurred during a marine action near Qui Nhon, 200 miles south of Saigon.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman claimed government forces killed 1,700 Viet Cong last week while 120 South Vietnamese were killed. The spokesman said 144 Viet Cong were captured and 60 government soldiers were missing.

U.S. military officials announced the number of Americans in South Viet Nam totaled

It's Just Not Done Unless Occasion Is Pope's Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — The two nuns clapped their black gloved hands like schoolgirls as the pilgrim of peace walked smiling down the aisle of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

"Oh," blushed the younger nun, "we're being so undignified." In North America, applause inside a Roman Catholic church is all but unheard of.

"But this is a special day!" exclaimed her companion.

It was truly a special day — "a day the Lord has made," as Pope Paul himself said in his sermon during the mass at Yankee Stadium, "so let us rejoice and be glad today."

His pilgrimage Monday was to the United Nations, but it was at St. Patrick's and the stadium and along the streets of the city where he passed that the rejoicing and gladness was most obvious and unrestrained.

The crowds were enormous — the sort of density that usually keeps police on edge. But such was the atmosphere of warmth and joy that even the police, instructed to face the crowd with their backs to the Pope, turned and looked with the rest.

When the motorcade pulled up to the steps of the cathedral — and the word spread, "He's outside! Right outside!" — the emotions of the 7,000 were obvious. They cried. The clapping was feverish, almost hysterical. They stood first on tiptoes, then on the kneelers, then on the pews.

Applaud in church? They enjoyed it.

The mass at the stadium like who was heavy with emotion. Many voices lifted in hymns, responding to the prayers and, at the end, thundering an unison, "long live the Pope!"

Johnson Says Papal Visit "May Be What World Needs"

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson says Pope Paul's visit to New York "may be just what the world needs to get us thinking of how to achieve peace and getting us to make progress in that area."

The Pope said he was extremely happy that his 50-minute private conference with Johnson Monday "revived about a mutual desire to work for peace."

After the first meeting of a president and pope outside the Vatican, the two world leaders invited five newspaper men to the living room of the presidential suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel to view a formal picture-taking session.

The two men spoke without notes. The Pope had an interpreter.

Peace Power "Cheapest"

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Peace River power project in north-central British Columbia will provide Vancouver with the cheapest power in Canada, says Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

"Once there was talk of selling the surplus power from the project to the United States. Now we are thinking of building a third dam in addition to the Peace and Columbia River project," he told the annual convention of the B.C. Dry Cleaners and Launderers' Association.

"Our load growth is increasing by 16 per cent per year and if this rate continues we will have to double our capacity within four and one half years."

Dr. Shrum said he believed sources of hydro power should be developed before other forms of energy.

"Gas, oil and coal are depleted gradually, but the source of hydro water continues perpetually."

He said the amount of cement required for the Peace River dam alone would build a wall 12 feet high and nine feet thick from Vancouver to Halifax.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers at a press briefing later quoted Johnson as saying he was "stimulated and inspired" by the Pope's visit.

Moyers said Johnson told the Pope at their conference that "peace can only be achieved after all people learn to read and write, until social justice is a fact for all people, until sick bodies are healed and a better life is possible."

Describing the discussion of health and education, Johnson said:

"We . . . exchanged views in detail on connection with what could be done to help provide education to the 800,000,000 people of the world who cannot read or write, to help increase the life expectancy of the millions of humans who now die at an early age, with a life expectancy less than half of what it is in this country."

Johnson left the hotel 10 minutes after he bade farewell to the Pope. He flew back to Washington and arrived at the White House in time to watch a telecast of the Pope's address to the United Nations.
